

Call for Panel Proposals (for CHUS sponsored panels at 2021 AHA annual meeting)

The 2021 AHA annual meeting will be held in January 7-10, 2021 in Seattle, Washington State Convention Center.

The CHUS will sponsor panels (not individual papers) at this meeting and invites proposals for panels at 2021 AHA annual meeting. Panels can follow one of the following formats: 1) three or four papers, chair, and commentator, or 2) a roundtable with a chair and participants.

The deadline for your submission of panel proposals to CHUS is April 10, 2020. The CHUS encourages members to organize panels. All of the panelists must be CHUS members. None CHUS members can participate as panelists with a conference fee of $40 for each panelist. None CHUS members who serve as chair and discussant are free of charge.

Proposals must be submitted in their completed form (that is, with full information concerning all participants and their presentations, including panel abstract, panelist's abstract, mailing address, email address, phone number, and institutional affiliation). Panels without full information will not be considered. Please see the attached sample proposal.

In order to uphold the academic integrity and professionalism of CHUS, it is required that all individuals, members and non-members alike, who participate as panelists, discussants, or chairs in CHUS-organized panels at AHA annual meetings must fulfill their obligations of submitting papers and attending the conference. If special circumstances, such as illnesses or other emergencies, prevent panel participants from attending the meeting, the absentee must inform the panel organizer and the CHUS coordinator about the absence in advance. If the absentee is a panelist, he/she must submit his/her paper to the panel organizer and arrange for someone in the panel to read the paper on his/her behalf. If the absentee is a chair or discussant, he/she must ask another panelist to take over his/her responsibility. Failure to fulfill this obligation will result in a 3-year suspension from CHUS-organized AHA panels.

Please e-mail your panel proposal in word document to Dr. Danke Li, Organizational Coordinator of the CHUS at dli@fairfield.edu.
