I Annual Report from CHUS President

Zhiguo Yang

Honoring tradition, I want to extend the New Year’s greetings to CHUS members before reporting to you our work in 2021: 虎、虎、虎: Be blessed with good fortunes in the Year of the Tiger!

James Z. Gao Memorial Fund

James Z. Gao (高崢), one of the founders of CHUS and its first president in 1987-1988, passed away on October 26, 2021, at age of 73. On November 1, 2021, more than forty CHUS members met virtually to celebrate James’ life and accomplishments as a history educator and scholar, and the outpouring of tributes from his colleagues and friends at the meeting testified to the impact of his charismatic personality, hilarious sense of humor, commitment to the pursuit of knowledge, and leadership of CHUS and on anyone who had met him. (The spring 2022 issue of The Chinese Historical Review (CHR) will publish an essay in memoriam of James titled, tentatively, “James Z. Gao, 1948-2021: An Explorer of a Cutting-edge Paradigm.”) To keep James’ memory and legacies alive, upon the suggestion from Jian Chen, Zhaohui Hong, Kan Liang, Xi Wang, and Guoqi Xu, the CHUS board decided to create a foundation to support CHUS academic activities in his name. The aforementioned CHUS members also made the initial donations to the proposed foundation.

Once the establishment of James Z. Gao Memorial Fund was announced after the November 1 memorial meeting, the following CHUS members and James’ friends and loved one – including those who had pledged their donation during the meeting – have added their donations to it:

An anonymous friend of James’

Guoqi Xu
Xiaoyuan Liu
Qiong Zhang
Yi Sun
Zhiwei Xiao

Thanks to their generosity, the fund now has a balance of $22,229.34 and is ready to operate. So, thank you all so very much! Next, with the input from CHUS members, the CHUS board will devise a plan on how to support CHUS academic programs with the fund.

If you wish to contribute to the fund, please contact Yi Sun, CHUS president, at ysun@sandiego.edu or Xiaoxia Li, CHUS treasurer, at XLi3@uco.edu.

Work Reports for 2021 by the CHUS Board

On January 8, 2022, the CHUS board members of Zhiguo Yang, Danke Li, Dandan Chen, Xiaojia Hou, and Mao Lin and CHR chief editor Xiaobing Li delivered their work reports for 2021 at the annual CHUS Business Meeting in New Orleans. Facing the challenges and uncertainties brought by the Covid-19 pandemic, each and every member of the CHUS leadership team performed their respective responsibilities with the utmost commitment and by the highest standard of professionalism. In particular, Xiaojia’s bookkeeping record for James Z. Gao Memorial Fund and Dandan’s new inventory of CHUS membership exemplify the best practice of transitioning CHUS management from one board of directors to another. Also, we want to express our heartfelt appreciation and gratitude to Danke, whose dedication and organizing skills led to the inclusion of four CHUS panels in the 2021 AHA annual conference; Xiaobing, who raised the level of CHR’s prestige and profitability even higher with his efficiency and energy; and Mao, who kept CHUS members connected with their organization through publishing CHUS Newsletter and webmastering CHUS webpage.

To keep our members informed of how we have managed the CHUS organization and its finance, we will publish Dandan’s annual membership report and Xiaojia’s annual financial report in this issue of CHUS Newsletter.

Reports by the CHUS Committees

In 2021, three CHUS committees were formed to conduct the following businesses according to CHUS Bylaws: the selection of the CHUS board of directors 2022-2024; the selection of a 2021 CHUS Award for Academic Excellence recipient; and the selection of a 2021 Award for Distinguished Service recipient.

The CHUS Election Committee was composed of Xiaobing Li, Patrick Shan, and Xiansheng Tian. We want to thank them for their hard work that led to the selection of Yi Sun (president), Qiong Zhang (conference coordinator), Mao Lin (secretary), Xiaoxiao Li (treasurer), and Shouyue Zhang (newsletter editor and CHUS webpage manager) as the next CHUS board of directors. Congratulations to Yi, Qiong, Mao, Xiaoxiao, and Shouyue!

The CHUS Award for Academic Excellent Selection Committee was composed of Pingchao Zhu, Qiong Zhang, Yi Sun. After spending many hours screening the outstanding nominations they had received and evaluating the nominees' works, they decided to recommend Qiang Fang as the recipient of the 2021 award, and the CHUS board accepted their recommendation. Thank you, Pingchao, Qiong, and Yi, for showcasing what commitment to professionalism looks like with your committee work. And congratulations, Qiang, on your academic achievement.

The CHUS Selection Committee for the CHUS Award for Distinguished Service was composed of Liyan Liu, Shuhua Fan, and Jingyi Song who recommended Zhiguo Yang as the recipient of the 2021 award. The CHUS board accepted the Committee's recommendation, so I could join my board colleagues Dandan and Xiaojia in being honored with this award while still serving CHUS. Thank you for your recognition that so profoundly warmed my heart.

To keep CHUS members informed of the selection process based on CHUS Bylaws, the reports by the aforementioned three committees will be published in this issue of CHUS Newsletter.

Good Luck to the CHUS Board of Directors 2022-2024

The official transition of CHUS leadership and management occurred at the January 8 CHUS Business Meeting. In congratulating Yi, Qiong, Mao, Xiaoxiao, and Shouyue on being elected as the succeeding CHUS board directors, Zhiguo, Danke, Dandan, Xiaojia, and Mao also wished them the best luck in making CHUS better and more influential.

And their commitment, talent, and willingness to serve CHUS members ensure that nothing but success awaits them.

II CHUS 2021 Secretary Report

Dandan Chen

Dear President Yang, CHUS Board of Directors and members,

I would like to report what I have done from 2020 to 2021.

[Membership & Emails & Other Issues]

In 2020-2021, CHUS attracted several new members, especially emerging young scholars, graduate students, and undergraduate students from U.S, Europe, and China. I have updated the list of members according to membership fee payment and sent the list twice to the publisher of Chinese Historical Review.

In 2020-2021, I spent a lot of time updating membership statuses, email and mail addresses of members, and contacting active members, non-active lifetime members, and other previous members.

At the end of 2020, I started to review the list of lifetime memberships, updated their job statuses, mailing addresses, and email addresses, and have made many changes. There are 75 life-time members. I also contacted quite a few CHUS lifetime memberships or old friends, updated their current info and invited them to the CHUS wechat group. I contacted many lifetime members and other members individually, reminding them of resuming paying CHUS membership fees and recorded whether and how they would like to receive the hard copies of Chinese Historical Review.

From the end of 2020 to early 2021, I double-checked and reported membership statuses to members; Reminder emails and messages were sent one to one to many members.

In January 2022, I finally reviewed the mailing list for active members who currently receive Chinese Historical Review. Among 69 active members, 29 members have expired or expiring membership statuses. I individually sent emails or wechat messages to these 29 members, reminding them of paying membership fees, and received many responses.

I also finally reviewed the list of lifetime membership and previous members and sent a group email to 57 lifetime membership and previous members who are not on CHUS mailing list and who need to resume paying membership fees. I received some responses. I carefully checked and updated mailing addresses, job statuses, and email addresses of many members.

I carefully checked the CHUS email list twice in Jan 2021 and Jan 2022. I deleted some non-working email addresses, updated some changes, added new email addresses for new members or members who changed email addresses.

[Social Media & Activities]

From 2020 to 2021, I keep maintaining an active wechat group for some of the CHUS members and invited many old and new CHUS members into the group. I also often share academic articles and news in the group. I also spread CHUS events on other social media.

From 2020 to 2021, I helped organized a couple of CHUS gatherings and events, including one CHUS member cloud gathering, 2020 AHA CHUS panels, and the memorial event for the passing of Professor Gao Zheng.

[Missing Issues for Chinese Historical Review]

Several active members reported they did not receive some issues of Chinese Historical Review. I constantly contacted the Publisher and provided updated mailing addresses for the publisher to send these missing issues via express mails.

[Suggestions for the New Secretary & Other Board Members]

I have very clear records of payment statuses for active members. I also have records of who should be contacted for reminding them of paying annual membership dues among the life-time members and other previous members. I also updated the email list for all current active, non-active lifetime or previous members. The new secretary & other board members can work together to send reminders to active and non-active lifetime or previous members, combing individual emails/wechats message or group email reminders.

Respectfully submitted by Dandan Chen

IV CHUS 2021 Conference Report

Danke Li

This year CHUS members again enthusiastically responded to the call for paper and four high quality CHUS panels were included in the 2022 AHA annual conference: 1. From “Cold War Ally” to “Most Serious Competitor”: The Shift of American Views of China in New Perspectives, 2. Learning from the Past: Bitter Episodes of US–China Relations Revisited, 3. Decoding Historical Misconceptions through Cross-Cultural Studies: Past and Present, 4. Politics, Everyday Life, and Institutional and Discursive Mechanisms of Intellectual Trends: The Appropriation of History and Cultural Practices in Ancient and Modern China.

In the future, the Board needs to encourage more members to organize panels for the AHA annual meetings and the conference coordinator should attend the AHA annual meeting for affiliated societies.

V CHUS 2021 Communication Report

Mao Lin

CHUS has published two Newsletters in 2021. The professional achievements from our members are quite impressive. The scope of the Newsletter has also been extended to cover teaching, services, professional developments, promotions, conference papers, invited lectures and other form of scholarship, instead of focusing on publications exclusively.

The CHUS website has been updated. The ownership of the website has finally been transferred to CHUS Treasurer.

CHUS has created its own Facebook page to promote its digital presence.

I'd like to express special thanks to Lejiu Sun and Shouyue Zhang, who provided technical supports for the website and Facebook page.

Suggestion for 2022:

We need to further build up the Facebook page. Right now it does not have a lot of contents and traffic.

VI CHUS 2021 Election Committee Report

Dear Professor Zhiguo Yang and the CHUS Board Directors:

Happy New Year!

As the 2021 CHUS Election Committee members, we are very glad to report to you and the board that we have completed our committee work from July to December 2021, and that the new 2022-2024 CHUS Board has been elected!

After you and the board established the 2021 CHUS Election Committee in early July 2021, we began our work by drafting the call for nomination in mid-July. By the deadline of October 1, the committee had received nominations for all the board positions.

Then, we contacted the nominees and collected their biographical information. The committee prepared the ballot and email it out to all the CHUS members on November 1.

By the election deadline on December 1, the committee received 32 ballots from the CHUS members, mostly voting yes to the candidates: Yi Sun as president, Mao Lin as secretary, Qiong Zhang as conference coordinator, Xiaojia Hou as treasurer, and Shouyue Zhang as newsletter editor.

In late December, the committee prepared a special election and email out the ballot on December 24. By the special election deadline on December 31, the committee received 10 ballots in favor of Xiaoxiao Li as treasurer. One ballot came in the early morning of January 1, 2022.

All the electronic votes are available in case anyone has questions.

We really appreciate the opportunity to serve on the 2021 CHUS Election Committee for our organization.

Thank you!

Sincerely yours,
Xiansheng Tian
Patrick Fuliang Shan
Xiaobing Li (Chair)
2021 CHUS Election Committee

VII Message from the New CHUS Board

Dear CHUS Members:

Hope you are enjoying the early days of the new year while getting ready to welcome the Year of the Tiger!

We, the newly elected members of the CHUS Executive Board, wish to express our most profound gratitude to you for your trust and support. It is a sheer honor and privilege for us to serve the organization during the next two years.

Our deep appreciation also goes to President Zhiguo Yang and the previous Board members, whose three years of hard work and dedication have helped to strengthen the organization. Meanwhile, the Chinese Historical Review, under the extraordinary editorship of Professor Xiaobing Li, has provided a strong platform and invaluable channel for our members' scholarly achievements.

Once the pandemic subsides, we will work expeditiously to implement the events that had been set in motion by the previous Board. Meanwhile, we will also organize a few new activities that are meaningful and doable under the COVID constraints.

Over the past thirty-five years, CHUS has become our common academic home, having been developed, advanced, and enriched by many devoted and talented leaders and members. With this rich inheritance, we will work together as a team to fulfill our respective and collective responsibilities to our cherished organization with a sense of honor, humility, and professional commitment.

With much appreciation and best wishes,
Yi Sun (President)
Mao Lin (Secretary)
Xiaoxiao Li (Treasurer)
Qiong Zhang (Conference Coordinator)
Shouyue Zhang (Newsletter Editor)

VIII 2023 CHUS Annual Meeting at AHA Call for Proposals

Qiong Zhang

The CHUS board cordially invites our members to submit complete panel proposals to be included as CHUS-sponsored panels at the 2023 AHA Annual Meeting, which will be held in Philadelphia from January 5 to 8, 2023.

Panels can follow either of two formats: 1) a paper panel, consisting of three or four presenters, a chair, and a commentator; or 2) a roundtable with a chair and 3-6 participants. Topics may concern any fields of historical scholarship, historiography, and pedagogy. We encourage panel organizers to consider inviting a mix of participants at different stages of their career, especially our student members. While in principle participation in a CHUS-sponsored panel at the AHA requires CHUS membership, non-CHUS members are most welcome to join the panel, though a conference fee of $40 will be charged. This fee will be waived for student presenters and for those non-members who participate in our panels in a service capacity (namely, as chair or commentator).

Panel proposals are due to Qiong Zhang at zhangq@wfu.edu on April 20, 2022. A complete panel proposal must include the following:

- 1) information about the panel itself:

- A. Panel Title (no more than 20 words);
 - B. For a paper panel, a brief panel description of up to 150 words and panelists' paper abstracts (200-250 words each). The panel description should highlight the focus and significance of the proposed panel and the thematic resonances among the different papers. A paper abstract must reflect adequately the specific subject-matter of the paper and the core scholarly contribution it intends to make.
 - C. For a roundtable, please include a roundtable description of about 250 words, stating the specific topic to be addressed and the way in which each participant is expected to contribute to the conversation.
- 2) Information about all panel participants (including chair and commentators): mailing address; email address; phone number; and institutional affiliation, if any.

We kindly ask our members to please limit your total appearances in the meeting program to two panels and limit your service roles (namely, as chairs or commentators) to one panel only, if possible. Exceptions may be made in outstanding circumstances, such as when a chair or commentator on our program is unable to attend the conference and you are asked to take over their responsibilities on top of your own pre-scheduled duties. This is a change of rule from previous years; it is introduced to facilitate the AHA scheduling of our panels. Panel organizers please take note of this change and verify the availability of your potential co-panelists, chairs, and discussants given this new rule.

CHUS-Sponsored Panels at the AHA are not only a venue of scholarly exchange for CHUS members but also a platform on which CHUS members showcase our scholarship and interact with colleagues in the wider AHA community. Thus, it is paramount that our panelists uphold the academic integrity and professional standards of CHUS. Once a panel has been accepted into our AHA-CHUS annual meeting program, all individuals, members and non-members alike, who participate in it as panelists, discussant, or chair must fulfill their obligations as stated in the proposal and attend the conference. In the event that an illness or other emergencies prevents a panel participant from attending the meeting, the absentees must inform their panel organizers and the CHUS conference coordinator (Qiong Zhang zhangq@wfu.edu) of their situations at the earliest possible time and make arrangement for a co-panelist or some other conference participant to deliver papers or comments or chairing a panel on their behalf. Failure to do so will result in a 3-year suspension from CHUS-organized AHA panels.

We regret that we will not be able to accept individual paper proposals. However, if you wish to present a paper and are looking for co-panelists, please let us know, and we would be happy to circulate your “call for co-panelists” using CHUS group emails and our social media outlets.

X CHUS Facebook Call for Submissions

The CHUS Board and the 2021 CHUS Business Meeting has decided to launch a new Facebook account. The Facebook page needs information from our members. Please send information for the following categories:

1. Research interests and expertise: please send your research fields, title/affiliation, and official contact information.
2. Breaking News: please send your scholarly achievements--publication, conference papers, talks, etc. with brief summaries and ideally pictures and links if available.
3. Book Club: CHUS members are encouraged to share what they are reading and/or recommend books to the public.
4. Research Notes: CHUS members are encouraged to share their research activities. This does not mean sharing the full text of their (un)published works; rather, it can be a new primary source, a thought, a spark of inspiration, or something they find interesting during their research.
5. "Big World, Small Talk." Under this category, members can write opinion pieces on different historical subjects not necessarily related to their own research. The purpose is to both promote the study of history (i.e. why history matters both in terms of research and teaching experiences) and present informed analysis of certain issues to the general public.

We are also planning some special activities down the road:

1. "History Matters" Lecture Series: CHUS members and invited speakers can deliver live talks via Zoom.
2. CHUS Facebook Roundtables: This proposal was put forward by the previous CHUS Board, and we would like to implement it if there are sufficient interests from our members. If you would like to host or organize a roundtable discussion on your CHR article on Facebook around the time when a CHR issue is published, please contact us.

We need your help to boost the digital presence of CHUS. Hope to hear from you soon. Please send your information to shzhan@iu.edu
